Sanden Corporation

Started to deliver Sanden Group information through X (formerly Twitter)

Sanden has opened an official Sanden Group account to share information with all stakeholders in a highly transparent manner by providing information on corporate initiatives, products, and services.

We will also make extensive use of the SNS we have established as a place for communication, analyzing your valuable opinions and needs to further improve our operations and promote PR and IR activities.

Could you please follow us.

X (formerly Twitter) is a social media and social networking service operated by X Corporation in the United States. A post is called a "post" and can only contain a limited number of characters.
