The World Folio" is a media outlet that interviews and publishes articles on business, corporate origins, and management mindsets of leaders and economists of internationally operating companies, and interviews more than 4,000 people in 50 countries each year.

The interview will be published later this spring in Newsweek International, an international business weekly with a circulation of 59 countries and approximately 55 million readers (including web readers). The timing of the publication will be announced later.

We will continue to actively disseminate information to attract attention not only from the domestic but also from the international media.
