1. Results of Operations

(1) Overview of Results of Operations

The Sanden Group is focusing resources on activities for accomplishing the five reform plans of SCOPE2023, a five-year medium-term management plan that will end in March 2024; (1) comprehensive reorganization of production system, (2) enhancement of basic earning power, (3) growth by actively promoting 'collaborative creation', (4) cash flow creation through capital reinforcement and reform of asset structure, and (5) systems innovation for implementation.

As was announced on August 7, 2019, Sanden Holdings sold all of the shares of former consolidated subsidiary Sanden Retail Systems Corp. (SDRS), along with loans extended by Sanden Holdings to SDRS to SDRS Holdings Corp., which is operated by Integral Corp., on October 1, 2019. Selling SDRS allows Sanden Holdings to focus all of its resources for the automotive systems business. Due to this sale, the commercial store systems business is no longer included in the consolidated financial statements beginning with the third quarter of the fiscal year that ended in March 2020.

In the automotive systems business, there were signs during the current fiscal year that the global economy and Japanese economy had stopped declining and started to recover. For example, there was a temporary lull in U.S.-China trade friction due to agreements on some points and indications of an economic recovery in India. However, the COVID-19 pandemic sparked a steep economic downturn in the final months of the fiscal year.

In China, where the COVID-19 outbreak started before the Chinese New Year, the Sanden Group's operations were shut down until the middle of February. Although operations were then restarted, there was no recovery in demand, which had an effect on shipments from Japan and other business activities. As the pandemic continued to spread to Europe and then worldwide in March, the Sanden Group suspended operations from the middle of March at two factories in Europe and four factories in Asia. Sales decreased rapidly as a result. Although group companies were operating normally in other regions, sales decreased in these areas too because of declining demand at companies that use the group's products. For these reasons, sales decreased 25.2% to 204,880 million yen.

In this challenging business environment, the Sanden Group conducted at thorough reexamination of manufacturing activities and other operations as part of the group's ongoing structural reforms. Specifically, this reexamination process resulted in the most productive deployment of personnel at every factory worldwide as well as a stronger infrastructure for manufacturing. There was also progress with variable expense improvements and cutting fixed expenses to position the Sanden Group for a recovery in sales and earnings. However, actions by the group were unable to offset the rapid decline in demand caused by COVID-19. The result was an operating loss of 3,401 million yen compared with operating income of 889 million yen in the previous fiscal year. The ordinary loss was 9,735 million yen compared with ordinary income of 564 million yen in the previous fiscal year because of the operating loss as well as foreign exchange losses and a decline in equity-method income. After extra payments for early retirement, an impairment loss on non-current assets and a gain on sales of SDRS and other items, profit attributable to owners of parent improved from a 23,060 million yen loss to a profit of 2,287 million yen.

Results for business segments are as follows.

A. Automotive Systems Business

The Sanden Group develops highly advanced products that meet customers' demands for environmental responsibility and supplies products with value primarily due to compact dimensions, light weight and energy efficiency. Based on the five reform plans of SCOPE2023, there were measures to optimize the use of human resources worldwide and strengthened activities for vehicle integrated thermal management systems. In addition, as was announced on October 30, 2019, the speed of joint development activities involving electric vehicles has been increased.

Although sales of products for electric vehicles increased, sales in this business decreased because of lower demand at major customers as global automobile sales slowed because of COVID-19 and other reasons. Earnings benefited from structural reforms and cost cutting measures, but there was a loss because of the downturn in sales. As a result, sales in this business decreased 20.5% to 153,776 million yen and there was an operating loss of 5,303 million yen compared with a 560 million yen profit in the previous fiscal year.

B. Commercial Store Systems Business

Sales were lower because all shares of SDRS were sold on October 1, 2019. Earnings were higher than in the previous fiscal year because of an increase in earnings during the first half. As a result, sales were down 37.7% to 43,275 million yen and operating income was up 197.1% to 2,297 million yen.

(2) Overview of Financial Condition

Total assets were 187,559 million yen at the end of the fiscal year, 58,841 million yen less than one year earlier. There was an increase in cash and deposits and decreases in trade receivables, inventories and non-current assets. The sale of SDRS reduced assets by 43,388 million yen.

Liabilities decreased 58,002 million yen to 164,859 million yen, including decreases in interest-bearing liabilities, notes and accounts payable - trade, and other accounts payable. The sale of SDRS reduced liabilities by 31,043 million yen.

Net assets decreased 839 million yen to 22,699 million yen despite there was an increase in the profit attributable to owners of parent.

(3) Overview of Cash Flows

Cash and cash equivalents increased 10,681 million yen during the fiscal year to 23,711 million yen at the end of March 2020.

Net cash provided by operating activities increased 4,175 million yen to 7,219 million yen mainly because of profit before income taxes and a decrease in trade receivables.

Net cash provided by investing activities was 28,452 million yen compared with a negative cash flow of 11,362 million yen in the previous fiscal year. This difference was primarily the result of proceeds of 35,604 million yen from sale of shares of subsidiaries and associates.

Net cash used in financing activities was 24,677 million yen compared with a positive cash flow of 2,679 million yen in the previous fiscal year. The main reason was payments of 24,923 million yen for repayments of long-term borrowings and the redemption of bonds.

Cash flow indicators are as follows.

Fiscal years ended March 31	FY3/2019	FY3/2020
Equity ratio (%)	7.7	11.1
Market cap equity ratio (%)	8.5	5.4
Cash flow/interest-bearing debt ratio (X)	45.6	15.3
Interest coverage ratio (X)	1.3	2.9

Equity ratio is shareholders' equity divided by total assets.

Market cap equity ratio is market capitalization divided by total assets.

Cash flow/ interest-bearing debt ratio is interest-bearing debt divided by operating cash flows.

Interest coverage ratio is operating cash flows divided by interest expenses.

Notes: 1 All figures are based on consolidated financial data.

- 2 Market capitalization is calculated based on the number of shares issued after deducting treasury shares.
- 3 Cash flows are operating cash flows in the consolidated statements of cash flows.
- 4 Interest-bearing debt is the sum of all interest-bearing liabilities on the consolidated balance sheets.
- 5 Interest expenses are interest expenses paid as shown in the consolidated statements of cash flows.

(4) Outlook

The COVID-19 pandemic is expected to continue to have a severe economic impact worldwide. The Sanden Group will continue its business operations while positioning activities for the health and safety of employees, customers and all other stakeholders and for preventing the spread of infections as the highest priorities. All activities are in compliance with the directives and other policies of national and local governments. Due to the uncertain outlook for markets and labor environment in countries worldwide, it is not possible at this time to determine a reliable forecast for the fiscal year ending in March 2021. An announcement will be made promptly when it becomes possible to determine a forecast.

In the first quarter of the fiscal year ending in March 2021, factories in Europe were temporarily shut down in April and factories in Asia (excluding Japan) suspended operations from April to May or June. Factories temporarily stopped operations in Japan and the United States too. Overall, these events have had an enormous impact on business operations. As of the end of June, all factories in Europe and Asia (excluding Japan) had restarted operations.

(5) Fundamental policy for allocation of earnings and dividends for the current fiscal year and next fiscal year Distributing earnings to shareholders is one of the highest priorities of Sanden Holdings. Based on our policy of making earnings distributions in accordance with consolidated results of operations, our goal is to pay a stable and consistent dividend.

In addition, we plan to use retained earnings to maximize shareholder value by strengthening business operations, as well as making our products more competitive for global growth, developing next-generation technologies, entering new business fields and making other upfront investments.

In the fiscal year that ended in March 2020, there was a profit attributable to owners of parent of 2,287 million yen partly due to a gain on sales of SDRS. However, there is no year-end dividend for the fiscal year because the Sanden Group's financial condition remains weak and retained earnings must be used to improve financial soundness.

For the fiscal year ending in March 2021, there is no plan to pay a dividend because of the outlook for a continuation of very challenging market conditions due to COVID-19.

To overcome these challenges, the Sanden Group will remain focused on the SCOPE2023 medium-term management plan centered on structural reforms to rebuild the foundation for business operations and on collaborative creation to achieve sustained growth. All group companies are dedicated to continuing to strengthen financial soundness and increase corporate value while doing everything possible in order to resume dividend payments soon.

2. Basic Position concerning Selection of Accounting Standards

A study is under way concerning the establishment of accounting principles for adopting International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) in the future and the timing of the application of IFRS.

(5) Notes to the consolidated financial statements

(Notes to going concern assumptions)

In the fiscal year that ended in March 2020, profit attributable to owners of parent was 2,287 million yen because of extraordinary income of 25,403 million yen resulting from the sale of all shares of Sanden Retail Systems Corp., the primary subsidiary in the commercial store systems business. Due in part to the sale of this company, fiscal year sales decreased 25% to 204,880 million yen. Furthermore, there was an operating loss of 3,401 million yen (operating income of 889 million yen one year earlier) and an ordinary loss of 9,735 million yen (ordinary income of 564 million yen one year earlier).

In the business environment for the group's core automotive systems business, vehicle sales have been decreasing since the second half of 2019, mainly in Europe and China. Furthermore, major factories of the Sanden Group, chiefly in China, Europe and Asia (excluding Japan) were forced to suspend operations for a while in 2020 because of the COVID-19 pandemic. As a result, sales in the automotive systems segment decreased 21% to 153,776 million yen and there was a segment loss of 5,303 million yen compared with a 560 million yen profit in the previous fiscal year.

As of March 31, 2020, loans and bonds totaled 100,252 million yen, down from 130,495 million yen one year earlier, cash and cash equivalents were 23,711 million yen, up from 13,030 million yen one year earlier, and operating cash flow was 7,219 million yen, up from 3,043 million yen one year earlier. In addition, current liabilities were more than current assets.

For these reasons, the current status of the Sanden Group raises doubts about the going concern assumption.

In response to this difficult situation, Sanden has made the decision to take actions for building a powerful profit structure capable of achieving renewed growth and for making a big improvement in financial soundness. These activities will utilize the specified certified dispute resolution procedures under the Act on Strengthening Industrial Competitiveness (also called the business revitalization alternative dispute resolution procedures, hereafter the "turnaround ADR procedures") and be based on agreements with financial institutions, which are classified as related parties.

On June 30, 2020, Sanden and some of its subsidiaries submitted an official application to the Japanese Association of Turnaround Professionals (the association is certified by the Minister of Justice as a certified dispute resolution organization and approved by the Minister of Economy, Trade and Industry as a specified certified dispute resolution organization) for the use of the turnaround ADR procedures. The association accepted the application on the same day. Also on June 30, 2020, a notice of temporary suspension was sent jointly by Sanden and the participating subsidiaries and the Japanese Association of Turnaround Professionals to financial institutions and other businesses that have business relationships with Sanden. The application for the use of the turnaround ADR procedures was submitted after holding discussions with major financial institutions used by Sanden. To maintain sufficient liquidity during the turnaround ADR procedures, Sanden has received a basic agreement from its major financial institutions to provide bridge loans. Sanden and these financial institutions are currently holding discussions to determine the terms for these loans.

The turnaround ADR procedures are used for relationships with financial institutions. Consequently, these procedures have no effect on others (customers, suppliers, etc.) who have business relationships with Sanden and the subsidiaries participating in these procedures.

While holding discussions with all financial institutions involved, Sanden and participating subsidiaries will establish a business revitalization plan as the Japanese Association of Turnaround Professionals performs surveys and provides guidance and advice from a fair and neutral standpoint.

Discussions are to take place with financial institutions within the framework of the turnaround ADR procedures concerning management improvement measures, the continuation of support from financial institutions, the schedule for implementing the plan and other items concerning the business revitalization plan. Management improvement measures will include actions by Sanden and participating subsidiaries as well as capital and business alliances with several sponsors, which is under diligent consideration, aimed at building a stronger profit structure, significantly improving financial soundness and achieving sustained growth. More information about the business revitalization plan will be announced as individual items are finalized.

However, measures concerning these actions have just started and even if these actions are taken, the actions may have a significant impact on liquidity depending on the status of the Sanden Group's business operations and progress with the turnaround ADR procedures. Consequently, Sanden believes that there are currently significant uncertainties about the going concern assumption.

The going concern assumption was used as the basis for preparing the consolidated financial statements and these statements do not reflect the significant uncertainties regarding this assumption.

(Change in significant subsidiary during the fiscal year)

During the fiscal year that ended in March 2020, consolidated subsidiary Sanden International (Europe) Ltd. was dissolved following an absorption-type merger with our consolidated subsidiary Sanden International (Europe) GmbH, with the latter as the surviving company. Accordingly, Sanden International (Europe) Ltd. was excluded from the scope of consolidation.

Consolidated subsidiary Sanden Shanghai Refrigeration Co., Ltd. was removed from the consolidated financial statements in association with the sale of all of the shares held by Sanden Holdings in Sanden Retail Systems Corporation, the parent company of Sanden Shanghai Refrigeration.

In addition, Sanden of America Inc. is no longer included in the consolidated financial statements because the liquidation of this company has been completed.

(Change in accounting policy)

Starting with the fiscal year that ended in March 2020, subsidiaries that use the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) are applying IFRS 16 Leases. As a result, in principle, lessees are required to include all leases in balance sheet assets and liabilities. For the application of IFRS 16, in accordance with the associated transitional measures, the cumulative effect of this accounting policy change has been included in retained earnings at the beginning of the fiscal year that ended in March 2020.

The application of IFRS 16 increased property, plant and equipment by 1,434 million yen, lease obligations in current liabilities by 476 million yen and lease obligations in non-current liabilities by 1,088 million yen in the fiscal year that ended in March 2020. The effect on the consolidated statement of income and per share information for this fiscal year is negligible. For cash flows, the application of IFRS 16 reduced net cash used in operating activities by 294 million yen and increased net cash used in financing activities by the same amount.

(Segment information, etc.)

1. Overview of reportable segment information

Segments used for financial reporting are the constituent units of Sanden for which separate financial information is available and for which the board of directors performs regular reviews for the purposes of determining the distribution of resources and evaluating results of operations.

Sanden establishes comprehensive strategies for operations in Japan and overseas based on its products, systems and services and conducts these business activities. Consequently, there are two reportable segments that are divided according to these products, systems and services: automotive systems and commercial store systems.

Segment	Major products, systems and services
Automotive systems	Automobile air conditioning systems, automobile air conditioning compressors and other automotive parts
